35 Years of Exclusivity...Winchester prides itself in providing “different and superior” replacement windows and doors to USA homeowners.

Celebrating 35 Years of Triple Glass Technology Manufacturing!

Winchester Industries is celebrating 35 years of triple glass insulating window and door manufacturing and sales experience via a truly “Exclusive” dealer sales program.

In October of 1983 Winchester’s owners recognized the need for triple pane replacement windows as the means to assist in what would later become a global priority - saving energy! Thirty-five years later with over 2.5 million windows, patio doors and steel doors installed nationwide, homeowners continue to trust Winchester’s products. Winchester utilizes Exclusive Bristol and Oxford Dealers, across the USA, to sell and replace inefficient windows and doors with Winchester’s superior quality products.

While experiencing first-hand the positive economic growth indicators in the replacement window and door industry, Winchester plans to aggressively expand its’ dealer base so more homeowner’s have the ability to purchase high-quality custom triple pane products from a manufacturer that has 35 years experience in making what is becoming today’s industry standard. Exclusively main frame with “true” triple pane glass and high-end technologies provide structural and thermal performances that far exceed industry energy standards.

Privately owned and highly respected in the industry, Winchester has two production lines that produce the Bristol and Oxford windows and doors. The 141,000 square foot manufacturing facility is located in Saltsburg, PA, which is east of Pittsburgh, PA.

Winchester maintains that homeowners should only have to replace their windows once. To achieve this, a superior product designed to perform and last their lifetime must be used. Winchester’s employees take great pride in the craftsmanship of the windows and doors. Homeowners who select our products join us in this well-deserved satisfaction.

The foundation of Winchester was built when owners Robert Weis and George Yuhasz combined over thirty years of industry knowledge to debut the first triple-glass Bristol replacement double-hung. Making triple-pane windows 35 years ago set the stage for Winchester to be the leader in window innovation. The need for more energy efficient windows was apparent because of the ever present and growing energy crisis.

The evolution of Winchester’s top-of-the-line windows has evolved from clear triple glass to triple glass loaded with superior energy efficient technologies. These features include our own proprietary gas mixture, specialized spacer system, and superior reflective coating materials in a 1” insulating glass unit. A superior insight into rising energy costs is still the reason Winchester only manufactures state-of-the-art high technology products.

Our Bristol Q-IV Locking System was pioneered to surpass security features already on the market. Four hardened steel locking points create not only a visual difference but add a built-in security feature that allows Winchester to provide a guaranty against home break-ins.

Winchester takes great pride in being different! Exclusive and patented features coupled with our superior glazing features and privately owned frame design and reinforcement, clearly differentiates Bristol windows from the vast majority of other replacement windows on the market. In addition to a full line of custom window models, exclusive entry door and patio doors are available.

Winchester’s dealer network affords true exclusive products and territories.

This aids in getting them out of the “Me Too” market place by being different and the only sales organization within a market place to sell Bristol or Oxford products. Sales representatives are knowledgeable and installers are carefully trained to measure each home and preform precise installations. All products are custom-made for every opening, which ensures a perfect fit.

Weis and Yuhasz continue to oversee various aspects of the business with President Michael Sugrue running the daily operations. The majority of Winchester’s personal each has nearly 30 plus years with the company. Because of ownership foresight and employee dedication, Winchester enjoys a financial and employee stability seldom seen in corporate America.
